About InConsult

Established in 2001, InConsult is a leading professional services firm with extensive local and international experience in risk management, business continuity, fraud and corruption prevention, internal audit, assurance and GRC software development.

Our rapid growth and satisfied clients are testimony to our capabilities, our in-depth understanding of client needs, and our ability to deliver effective and efficient solutions on time, all the time.

We are proud to provide a comprehensive range of business solutions to help public and private sector organisations effectively manage risks and improve internal controls to maximise opportunities.

Setting strategy and achieving corporate objectives is your business. Helping you better manage risks is our business.

Together, we help you stay in control.

How we work with you

We understand that taking calculated risks is essential for maximising opportunities and sustainable growth.

Our consulting approach is based on the premise that nobody knows your business better than you.

Sometimes, you need the assistance of an expert who has the specialist skills and the industry experience that understands your issues and most importantly, is reputed for delivering results.

That is why we strongly believe in the power of a 'true partnership' where we work with you, to harness both our collective skills to deliver better results and more cost effectively.

We work with you to gain an insight into your needs, help you establish an outlook for the future and then provide implementation support to achieve results.

End-to-end capabilities

What is so unique about InConsult?

We understand that in order for organisations to manage risk and improve business controls, a range of activities are required. That is why InConsult offers a broad range of services.

Our wide range of consulting services are designed to help assess the current situation, identify gaps and develop plans of action, policies and procedures.

Our training is designed to simplify key concepts in an engaging and entertaining environment, to help managers understand key concepts in risk, control and governance.

Our award winning GuardianERM.net technology is designed to support and enable best practice risk management, audit, assurance and incident management practices.

Our people

From maximising business opportunities to reducing threats, we draw our capabilities from our team of experienced consultants.

The quality of advice, the value of ideas and the soundness of strategy depends entirely on the quality of our people.

We use methodologies that combine international standards, best practice and our 'real life' experience.

Our consultants are a diverse team of highly qualified and experienced professionals with significant knowledge and multi-disciplinary expert skills across risk management, governance, audit, fraud control, workplace health and safety and business continuity.

Why choose InConsult

We go the extra mile; we strive for excellence by providing our clients with superior and unsurpassed services.

We create value by utilising an efficient business model and by working in partnership with our clients.

We facilitate teamwork, communicate progress regularly and transfer skills to sustain improvements and benefits.

We establish sound, long-term relationships built on trust, honesty and integrity.

We are respected by key industry stakeholders and maintain good relationships with them.

We have the expertise and a proven track record in achieving results for a range of clients over a number of assignments.

We adopt a fair and honest business approach by maintaining open communication, competitive fee structure and respect for confidential information.

“We are repeatedly told that what sets us apart is our commitment to our clients – whatever it takes.”

CY Wong, Director
