Risk!

Internal Audit and Assurance

In a business environment characterised by high levels of uncertainty, new and emerging risks and more sophisticated business processes, organisations must continue to demonstrate to their stakeholders that they have adequate controls and safeguards in place.

Internal audit and assurance is an integral part of good governance. In some industry sectors, internal audit is mandated whilst in other sectors, it is strongly recommended.

Stakeholders demand more than the traditional 'tick and bash' internal audit and assurance function, they demand a function that:

- Is independent of management;
- Utilises a risk-based audit approach;
- Is aligned and supports other risk and governance initiatives; and
- Works with management to support the attainment of the organisation's objectives.

InConsult gives you choice

We believe that internal audit and assurance activities should provide value and contribute to better business practice and performance. However, not every organisation is the same. That is why InConsult offers a choice.

Strategic Internal Audit Plan

A detailed Strategic Internal Audit Plan enables internal audit to align its audit objectives to the organisation's needs.

The Strategic Internal Audit Planning process is undertaken in 4 stages – familiarisation, management interviews, analysis and reporting.

We identify the audit universe and select and prioritise higher risk areas to ensure a risk based audit approach that adds value.

Process Mapping

A clear business process map helps document the flow of activities to assess potential risks, quality of procedures and the overall efficiency of the process in meeting process objectives.

Probity Support

Supporting organisations with expert advice to help ensure the highest standards of procurement practice and to meet legislative requirements.

Governance Health Check

An independent assessment of an organisation's governance framework using industry best practice and Australian Standards AS 8000 to AS 8004 as guides.

Fundamentals of Governance Training

Improving people's awareness of governance helps ensure your organisation is managed in a manner that meets the interests of stakeholders.
